

Quantitative Medical Systems (QMS), located in Emeryville, CA, is expanding its leadership position in providing state-of-the-art software systems for the healthcare industry. The software developed at QMS is client/server, user-oriented and accessed through a wide area network. Its software concentrates on dialysis billing, tracking of accounts receivable, associated operations, and clinical management analyses/reporting. QMS Focus is the most advanced financial and information management software for dialysis providers. QMS Clinical System (QCS) provides the dialysis facility the ability to access essential clinical data, and is seamlessly integrated with QMS Focus to complete charge capture, reducing data entry. Both applications use a client/server architecture, an Oracle relational database, and a Windows client user interface. It has been this concentration that has established the leadership position that QMS holds today. Look us up at www.qms-us.com.

Business Analyst (BA001)

The Business Analyst will be responsible for critical analysis and documentation of system functionality. This will include defining enhancements to the dialysis billing application. Enhancements will be based on clients' needs and requests, as well as government regulations. The analyst will be familiar with the application from both the application-user and technical perspectives. This position will also assist in the testing of the product. The Business Analyst will work closely with the engineering department to develop the most efficient solution to the changes needed for the application. The incumbent may monitor billing/clinical systems for data quality, integrity, operation, and efficiency. The analyst will also assist in workflow analysis to determine appropriate solutions in the dialysis billing setting.
